Russia Again Pledges To Support Neutrality And Peace For Laos

Khrushchev, Harriman Confer

Joint Communique Follows Lengthy Moscow Session

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev, in a 3½-hour conference with W. Averell Harriman, pledged the Soviet Union again Friday to support the Geneva agreements for peace and neutrality of Laos.

The agreement of the Soviet Union, jointly with that of the United States, was stated in a communique issued after the conference at which the undersecretary of state delivered a personal letter from President Kennedy to the premier.

Key paragraph of the communique said simply:

Reaffirm Stand

"The President and the chairman of the Council of Ministers reaffirmed that both governments fully support the general agreement on the Laotian question about which there was an exchange of views between them at Vienna and a mutual understanding reached."

The President's part of the understanding apparently was conveyed in the letter from Kennedy that Harriman delivered to the premier.

Beyond the terse communique, not a note of what was discussed between the two came from embassy or Russian sources.

Some subjects undoubtedly discussed were indicated in repeated charges in the Soviet press that the whole new outbreak in Laos was the fault of the Americans.

The Soviet military newspaper, Red Star, said the Americans incited the trouble in Laos in order to make an excuse for direct intervention.

Blames U.S. States

The Soviet news agency Tass went further. In a dispatch from Hanoi, North Viet Nam, it said U.S. officers were leading right-wing Laotian troops into battle against the Communist-led Pathet Lao.

Harriman and U.S. Ambassador Foy Kohler went into the Kremlin at 3 p.m. and came out 3½ hours later.

Earlier the two spent two hours and 40 minutes with Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko going over essentially the same ground.

The American position as to who started the new trouble in Laos is squarely opposed to the Soviet view. Kennedy made clear in his Wednesday news conference that the United States blamed Pathet Lao troops for reopening the fighting.

American information indicates that not only the Pathet Lao troops but troops from Communist North Viet Nam are taking part in the effort to upset the neutralist regime and perhaps force a division of the country.

Whether Harriman planned further conferences with Khrushchev or Gromyko could not be learned. After the conference he went straight to Spaso House, the ambassador's residence, to relax.

He will be in Moscow Saturday, embassy attaches said, but how long after that was not known.

New Mexico Crash Kills Nine Airmen

C47 Loses Wing Over Mountains; All Aboard Perish

PLACITAS, N. M. (UPI)—An Air Force C47 lost a wing over the Sandia Mountains north of Albuquerque Friday and crashed on a high mesa, killing all nine airmen aboard.

The plane based at Andrews AFB, Washington, D. C., was en route to March AFB, Riverside, Calif., with a crew of four and five Air Force "hitchhikers."

The two-engine transport came out of clouds hanging low over the 6,500-foot mountain range, cleared a ridge and crashed behind it with a blast which shook the ground two miles away. The wreckage was gutted by fire.

The Air Force identified one of the passengers as Capt. John R. McNeil, 38, whose wife and son live in Denver. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. V. McNeil, live at Orange Calif.

The plane made no radio reports of trouble to Kirtland AFB at Albuquerque, 25 miles to the south, before it crashed and burned on the Diamond Tail Ranch in the northern reaches of the Sandias.

Air Force personnel from Kirtland who reached the scene after a three-hour drive on precipitous mountain roads said the C47 apparently was the victim of "mid-air destruction"—but not necessarily an explosion. One wing was found 500 yards from the main wreckage, indicating it had fallen off before the plane smashed into the mesa. It could not be determined immediately what caused the wing to come off.

Nine bodies were found in tangled heaps of charred wreckage spread in a 100-yard diameter, more than a quarter of a mile from the severed wing.

The bodies were taken to the Veterans Administration Hospital in Albuquerque in three Air Force ambulances.

The plane crashed about noon EST, six miles northeast of the village of Placitas near the end of a dirt road.

Sen. Goldwater Blasts Kennedy

2,000 Republican Women Hear Attacks By Party Leaders

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Republican congressional leaders and Sen. Barry Goldwater joined Friday in a free-swinging assault on President Kennedy accusing him of distrusting the American people and failing to fulfill Democratic promises.

They spoke before about 2,000 women attending the 11th annual Republican Women's Conference, which obviously included many delegates who want Goldwater nominated for president next year.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., and House GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck, Ind., hammered on the theme that there was a wide gap between the promises of Kennedy, the presidential candidate, and the performance of Kennedy the President.

They were given warm receptions and Goldwater was given an even warmer one while small "Goldwater for president" signs sprouted in the back of the room.

This evidence of enthusiasm for Goldwater, along with music from an electric organ, gave the whole show the atmosphere of a national political convention.

Goldwater's speech consisted of a sheaf of advice for the President, such as:

"Mr. President, please trust the American people. We aren't too damned dumb."

"Trust our economic system... don't look on every businessman as an SOB. Quit meddling in the market and siding altogether with labor."

"Please trust our system of government... you don't have to stick your finger in the congressional pie..."

Cuban Spy Slain; Four Marines Out

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Four U.S. Marine officers were forced out of the corps last year for their role in the slaying of a Cuban spy at the Guantanamo Naval Base, according to reports published Friday.

The Defense Department declined to comment on the reports. One of the four ex-Marines, William A. Szili, was quoted as saying that he was discharged because he helped dispose of the body of the Cuban allegedly shot by another Marine in self-defense.

Columnist Jack Anderson identified the Marine who did the shooting as former Capt. Arthur J. Jackson, a World War II Medal of Honor winner.

Anderson, an assistant to Drew Pearson, wrote that Jackson, Szili and two others "were railroaded out of the Marine Corps without a formal hearing and were warned to keep their mouths zipped."

Rep. Charles B. Hoeven, R-Iowa, who led the critical questioning of Freeman, said in a statement later that Freeman "is using thousands of his department's employees in a high pressure drive to force a 'yes' vote in the referendum."

In another development, Chairman Allen J. Ellender, D-La., of the Senate Agriculture Committee Friday promised action next week on a new feed grain surplus control bill which administration officials believe will brighten the prospects for farmer acceptance of the wheat plan.

Passage of the feed bill would activate a section of the wheat law providing more flexible planting regulations for wheat growers. Administration officials have been driving for enactment of the feed bill before the May 21 wheat vote.

The House passed the feed grain bill on a 208-196 party-line vote Thursday night despite GOP attempts to delay action until after the wheat referendum. Ellender said Friday he planned to call the feed bill up for action in his committee next Wednesday, and hoped to bring it to the Senate floor later next week.

11 Ministers Sentenced For Defiance

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Eleven ministers, including the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., were sentenced to five days in jail and fined $50 each Friday for defying a state injunction against racial demonstrations.

Jack Greenberg of New York, attorney for the defendants, said the case would be taken to the Alabama Supreme Court and, if necessary, to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Circuit Judge W. A. Jenkins Jr. found King and the other Negro leaders in contempt of his court. He ordered their sentences to begin May 16.

The ministers could not be reached for comment on what effect the decision might have on the integration campaign they began April 3, one day after segregationist City Commissioner Eugene Connor lost to Albert Boutwell for mayor in a change-of-government election.

Jenkins issued an injunction April 10 banning such forms of racial activity as sit-ins, kneel-ins and marches. Two days later King, the Rev. Ralph B. Abernathy and the Rev. Fred L. Shuttlesworth were arrested while leading a protest march. They were charged in City Court with parading without a permit.

The city issued a complaint asking Circuit Court to cite the Negroes for contempt. The judge ordered a show cause hearing, which was concluded Wednesday.

King spent eight days in jail before gaining release on bond. He still faces city charges on the parade permit count and is scheduled for trial next Wednesday. It was the 13th time King has gone behind bars in his desegregation maneuvers.

More than 370 arrests have been made during the current campaign.

Cited for criminal contempt with King were his brother, the Rev. A. D. King, Abernathy, Shuttlesworth and the Revs. Wyatt Tee Walker, Andrew Young, John Thomas Porter, Theodis L. Fisher, Nelson H. Smith Jr., Joshua W. Hayes and James Luther Bevels.

The other hospitals involved are Pikesville, Ky.; Beckley, William, son, and Man, W. Va., and Wise, Va.

The time given by Havana radio checked closely with Rorke's report that he was over the target at 8:55 p.m. Eastern Standard Time, which would have been 9:55 Havana time. Rorke did not claim any damage was done to the oil tanks at which the bombs were aimed but did claim the explosives went off.

It was believed here that the Nico Lopez referred to by Havana radio is the name of a refinery in the Havana suburb of Regla, where oil installations are located.

The U.S. policy is to discourage hit-and-run raids against the Castro regime by Cuban refugees, and prior to the Havana broadcast the State Department was skeptical of Rorke's report.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said Kennedy would depart at 1 p.m. EST Saturday by helicopter for Camp David. He said Mrs. Kennedy and the two children drove up Friday by automobile.

Ted Weems Listed As Critically Ill

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—Band leader Ted Weems, stricken with a complicated lung ailment, was listed in critical condition Friday at Tulsa Hillcrest Hospital.

Weems, 62, was hospitalized over a month ago while on tour in Tulsa. His condition improved earlier this month and doctors took him off the critical list.

Weems' chronic pulmonary emphysema worsened Friday and the doctors put him back on the critical list.

Soviet Mayor Shot For Crime

MOSCOW (UPI)—The mayor of a Soviet provincial capital has been shot for embezzlement and corruption, Izvestia said Friday.

The government newspaper said Mayor Bobodzhonov of Dushanbe—formerly named Stalinabad—the capital of the central Asian republic of Tadzhikistan, was convicted in one of the largest trials in the current drive to wipe out official corruption unearthed since Stalin's death.

Izvestia said Bobodzhonov and his ring of accomplices, including the chief of the local Communist party organization and the district attorney, were tried by the Tadzhikistan Supreme Court and all found guilty of bribery and misappropriation of state property.

Only the mayor was sentenced to death. The district attorney, the party chief and an unspecified number of other accomplices drew varied prison terms, Izvestia reported.

Church May Buy 10 Hospitals

NEW YORK (UPI)—The board of national missions of the Presbyterian Church U.S.A. Friday authorized its executive officers to negotiate the purchase of 10 United Mine Workers (UMW) hospitals in Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia.

The action is contingent on whether negotiations can be carried out before union trustees enforce their July 1 deadline for closing four Eastern Kentucky hospitals.

A spokesman for the board said the Presbyterians have no intention of permanently owning or operating the hospitals. The mission board hopes to set up a regional hospital board to operate the hospital and the church board would act in an advisory capacity.

"It is the intent of this action," read the resolution passed by the board, "that the board of national missions will serve as an enabling agency to make possible the eventual operation of these hospitals through an individual corporation or corporations."

Negotiations will be opened immediately with the hospital trustees who are planning to close hospitals at Hazard, McDowell, Whitesburg, and Middlesboro, Ky. A fifth hospital, the Miners Memorial Hospital of Harlan, Ky., also will be involved in the initial negotiations since it provides specialty services to three of the four.

The other hospitals involved are Pikesville, Ky.; Beckley, William, son, and Man, W. Va., and Wise, Va.

Atlas ICBM Fires Cone 5000 Miles

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—An advanced-model Atlas Intercontinental Ballistic Missile (ICBM) Friday night shot a new and more streamlined nose cone the more than 5,000 miles across the Atlantic Ocean.

The Atlas firing, described as "highly successful," came about eight hours after the U.S. Navy launched its powerful new Polaris "A-3" missile from a sea-going ship. However, the Polaris went out of control and had to be destroyed.

Launching of the silvery, 82-foot Atlas "F" was flawless. The rocket blasted from its launching pad at 9:03 p.m. EST, and its long, slender nose cone plummeted back through the atmosphere into a target area off the west coast of Africa about 30 minutes later.

The shot was the second in a new series of tests called ABRES, short for advanced ballistic reentry systems. The goal of the program is to build nose cones that are more effective and more difficult for enemy defenses to spot.

Recess Merger Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Interstate Commerce Commission announced that hearings on the proposed Pennsylvania-New York Central Railroad merger have been recessed until Tuesday. The hearings have been going on for several months and are expected to extend into the summer.

Photographer Takes Part In Bomb Raid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Photographer Alexander Rorke Jr. said Friday he took part in a bombing raid over Cuba on Thursday night. Havana radio reported Friday night that a plane dropped bombs near Havana but none exploded.

Rorke said in a speech before an anti-Communist meeting that while he filmed the scene, crewmen lighted homemade bombs with their cigars and dropped them into a refinery area near Havana.

The Havana radio report, monitored by The Associated Press at Key West, Fla., said a twin-engine plane dropped a 100-pound bomb and some cans of inflammable liquid in the Nico Lopez area outside Havana at 10 p.m. Thursday night but none exploded. It said the plane came in low from the north.

The broadcast took note of U.S. news reports of the raid and said the U.S. government did nothing about it.

The time given by Havana radio checked closely with Rorke's report that he was over the target at 8:55 p.m. Eastern Standard Time, which would have been 9:55 Havana time. Rorke did not claim any damage was done to the oil tanks at which the bombs were aimed but did claim the explosives went off.

It was believed here that the Nico Lopez referred to by Havana radio is the name of a refinery in the Havana suburb of Regla, where oil installations are located.

President To Visit Camp David Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will spend the weekend at his Camp David retreat in the Catoctin Mountains, the White House announced Friday.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said Kennedy would depart at 1 p.m. EST Saturday by helicopter for Camp David. He said Mrs. Kennedy and the two children drove up Friday by automobile.

Shy Mallard Receives Help From Coast Guard

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—"Shh, Gee Gee is asleep," the sign says.

The sign, erected by the U. S. Coast Guard on a piling under a bridge over the Milwaukee River warns passers-by not to disturb "Gee Gee," a shy mallard duck who is keeping a watchful eye on the eight eggs she has laid in her nest atop the piling.

The nest is about one block away from a nest built by "Gertie," another mallard who drew nationwide attention when she set up her home on a piling in the river in the late 1940's. Milwaukeeans gathered daily to watch "Gertie" guard her eggs.

The Coast Guard has set up duty sections to care for "Gee Gee" until her brood has hatched.

Rescue Team Recovers All Bodies

West Virginia's Worst Disaster Since October, 1958

By JOHN T. KADY
United Press International
DOLA, W. Va. (UPI)—Weary rescue teams Friday located the bodies of 22 miners killed deep underground in a tremendous methane gas explosion in a soft coal mine.

The last body was discovered at 8:45 p.m. EST by rescue teams retracing their steps through the gloomy, dusty tunnels rocked by the huge blast two minutes before the men were to go off duty late Thursday night.

Searchers found the final victim not far from a continuous mining machine where seven other bodies were located about 6:30 p.m.

Mine officials said most of the bodies were severely burned and that death was instantaneous. However, officials said the first three victims, whose bodies were located at 10 a.m. Friday, died of concussion. Eleven more bodies were sighted about noon.

Friends and relatives who kept a sad and silent vigil since the explosion Thursday night broke into tears when rescuers brought the first bodies to the surface.

Community Mourns Victims
This tiny community of 200 in the hills of northern West Virginia was deeply saddened by the disaster. Most of the men lived in nearby communities and wives, children and friends gathered throughout Thursday night and Friday to learn the news.

Steve Canonic, vice president of the Clinchfield Coal Co., said "We kept hoping up to the last minutes that the men working near the continuous miner had managed to barricade themselves."

Many of those who came here to learn the fate of their loved ones had gone home by the time the last body was located.

All 22 of the miners were married and had a total of 39 children.

The explosion which caught the doomed men was so powerful it ripped a coat off a worker four miles from the blast.

One woman walked to a makeshift morgue in a small steel shack Friday night before the last body was found. A young boy at her side tugged at her skirt.

"Where is he, where is he," the youngster asked.

"Hush," the woman answered, and walked away from the morgue, weeping.

Theories Cause
Canonic said it appeared that a "spark of some sort touched off a mixture of methane gas and coal dust." But he added that either the methane gas or the coal dust were powerful enough to cause the blast.

Canonic said he was not certain in which shaft the blast originated. Federal and state mine officials said they would meet in Clarksburg (Continued on page 2)

Assateague Conference Scheduled

BALTIMORE (AP) — A meeting of federal and state officials to discuss a Department of Interior proposal to develop Assateague Island into a seashore park has been set for next Wednesday in Washington.

The Maryland representatives expected to attend the meeting include John B. Funk, chairman-director of the State Roads Commission; State Planning Director James J. O'Donnell and S. Lawrence Hammerman, chairman of the Maryland Commission on Forests and Parks.

The federal proposal, which would cost $12.3 million, would transform Assateague from a barren strip of sand into a public outdoor recreation area with two sections of supervised bathing beach.

Some Maryland officials oppose the federal plan. They favor development of a two-mile park on the northern end of the island with a $1.5 million toll bridge. The rest of the island would be left for private commercial and residential development.

D. L. Luke Says Paper Industry Outlook Bright

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Board Chairman David L. Luke of the West Virginia Pulp & Paper Co. said Friday growing demand and a slowdown in plant expansion are brightening the outlook for the paper industry, long hampered by overcapacity.

Luke, in a speech prepared for delivery to the Richmond Society of Financial Analysts, said the "gap between capacity and demand is rapidly closing."

Before long, he said, the operating ratios of United States wood-pulp producers, which reached an "abnormally low rate" of 78 per cent in 1958, will break through the 90 per cent level.

"Above this level," he said, "we are likely to begin to find price stability, and if indicated trends continue, subsequent price improvement."

Luke said the paper industry's difficulties of the past were not related to a lack of growth or to any special sensitivity to business recessions, but to "the excessive rates of expansion."

He predicted the building of excessive new capacity in the future "would be discouraged by the future 'would be discouraged by the heavy investment required for today's large, low-cost operations, as well as the increasing difficulty of finding an adequate combination of large amounts of wood and water in good economic balance with satisfactory labor and low-cost transportation."

Luke said he expected the decline in the rate of new plant capacity to be accompanied by an increasing world demand for woodpulp, "the cornerstone of the paper industry's price structure."

County Seeks Bids

Clean-Up Campaign Will Open Monday

The Cumberland Street Department and Chamber of Commerce is urging citizens to join in the annual Clean-Up Campaign which will be held here next week.

Beginning Monday and continuing through Friday, the Street Department will make a street by street canvass to pickup trash and debris which should be placed at the curbs prior to 7 a. m. of the pickup day for a particular section.

Street Commissioner Lucile Roeder and Street Superintendent Ray Valentine set forth a few instructions which residents should follow and which will make the job speedier for Street Department trucks and crews.

Residents are asked to (1) tie all brush into bundles so the men can load them;

(2) Have all trash and brush at the curb line by 7 a. m. of the day of collection;

(3) Do not put trash into good garbage cans since anything at the curb will be hauled away;

(4) If the trash pickup coincides with the regular garbage collection night, keep garbage cans on the inside of the sidewalk or curb;

(5) Do not place anything at the curb that is too heavy for crews to load by hand.

In all, the department will have 32 men, 4 foremen and 9 dump trucks in addition to 2 pickup trucks taking part in the week-long affair.

Mrs. Roeder said the department offers this as a service to the community and expressed the hope that residents would cooperate not only in the following

Special Parking Practice Outlined

City Police have asked the cooperation of the public in securing special parking signs required for large vehicles used in moving family belongings.

Chief B. F. Gaffney said the permits are granted for moving vans, but that advance notice is required before being issued.

Chief Gaffney said a request should be made at headquarters at least 24 hours before the signs are required, and that the request should be made between the hours of 7 a. m. and 3 p. m.

Similar requests should be made for coal deliveries, the chief said.

Pledges are first row, Mrs. Carolyn Griffin, a Ritual of Jewel member, who was accepted into Xi Beta Exemplar; Mrs. Leona McClellan, Mrs. Gladys May, Omicron; Mrs. Gladys Bolyard, Xi Nu Exemplar, who was received after five years service in BSP; second row, Mrs. Katherine Sowers, Xi Omicron; Mrs. Joan Ryan; Mrs. Jane Yutzy, Lambda; third row, Mrs. Virginia Griggs, Mrs. Phyllis Sterner, Xi Omicron; Mrs. Leota Getson, Lambda and Mrs. Martha Webreck, Omicron.

BSP Has Annual Ritual

For the first time the Beta Sigma Phi City Council held separate ceremonies for Exemplar, Ritual of Jewels and Phi Rho at the annual dinner meeting Thursday evening at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club. "A Torch Will Light the Way" was the theme of the program.

Beginning with the National Anthem, with Mrs. Vivian Dorn at the piano, there was the opening ritual, an invocation by Mrs. Juanita Brinsmade and Mrs. Elizabeth Drew presided and welcomed the pledges. Miss Betty Roemmelmeyer gave the founders day pledge and Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis read the message from Walter Ross, BSP president. The closing ritual was in unison. A social hour followed the ritual ceremony.

Yellow roses, the sorority flower, and matching candles decorated the table. Favors were shell-shaped black ceramic ash trays decorated with a yellow rose. Approximately 80 members attended.

The City Council will meet May 2 at the home of Mrs. Lois Schaidt, Valley Road.

Dog Show Steward Selected

At the meeting of the Upper Potomac Valley Kennel Club Clifton D. Jeffries appointed Dr. Charles B. Hoelzel as chief ring steward for the 10th annual all-breed show to be held May 19. It was pointed out that the assignment is one of the most important roles in the management of the show.

Serving as stewards with Dr. Hoelzel will be Harvey Ware, Phillip Carolan, William Wageley, Gerald Arthur, Mrs. Charles Hoelzel, Marvin Hast, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fagert, Paden City, W. Va.; Gene Neal, Mr. and Mrs. James Moore, New Martinsville, W. Va.; Elmer Martin, Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Harold Meek.

Col. Frank Foster, Davis, points out that ring stewards are on a par with judges as to importance in the ring, as one is needed to act in the ring and the other as a "runner" to keep the show on schedule, give out armbands and collect. The ring steward keeps a strict watch on trophies or prize money according to the show catalogue, which he marks as the dog's stand in front of the award numbers.

It was stressed that only those wearing official badges are permitted in the ring. For an official opinion from the veterinarian, the latter must be accompanied by the superintendent. The chief ring steward will set up the schedule of entries. Each steward will have arm bands, judging ribbons, the judge's book, envelopes of prize money and catalogues for the ring steward.

Blue ribbons will be awarded for first place; red, second; yellow, third; and white, fourth; blue and white for "best of winners; purple and gold, "best of breed"; and "Best of Variety of Breed".

Entries for the show will close at noon May 7. Local fanciers who wish to enter their dogs may secure forms from the club secretary, Mrs. Earl Smith, or from a veterinarian.

Mrs. Nora Ward, Short Gap, is convalescing at her home, after being a patient in Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Douglass have returned to Smithburg, W. Va., after visiting her.

Johnny Carson At 'Tonight' Mike

Carson's 'Done It' On 'Tonight Show'

By RUTH E. THOMPSON

"Johnny Carson, you're so sweet!" burred handsome Fran "Mrs. Fixit" Lee as with the surprise of lightning in winter she clapped her own fuzzy fox blob of a hat right on the noggin of the unwarned headliner of NBC's "The Tonight Show" starring Johnny Carson. Except for a few muscles in his face, Carson froze with the control of a hunting dog—but the subtle shift of those facial muscles convulsed the nation's insomniacs.

Showing the sleepless ones no mercy, Carson and Miss Lee kept building the put-on-a-hat, bend-a-hat, react-to-a-hat until the giggles bordered on hysteria. Now he was Nanook, a split second he was a wide-eyed schnook.

Fifty years ago that one specimen of sure showmanship would have spared either of them further creativity. They could have toured it before the crowned heads, then into the provinces and back again ad infinitum.

Like Miss Lee viewers feel proud and possessive. Most of us have failed to notice, though, that while we're rooting, "You can do it, Johnny," Johnny's done it and how! Since he moved into the star spot, "Tonight . . ." has been setting some records: item—210 stations (the greatest number in the show's history) now carry the program; item—there's a waiting list of sponsors; item—even without such extras as his "Let's give away a peacock" he's pulling 400 fan letters a day; and the most telling item of all—NBC, which knows a good thing when it's hired him, has just signed Johnny to another full year's contract.

What has made Carson such a hit? I asked three people: an actor, a press agent (for someone else) and Carson himself.

First is it because he's such a sweet guy as Fran Lee says? "No, I don't think he even is what you call a 'sweet guy,'" ventured the press agent. "But don't misunderstand me. It's not that he has a mean streak; he hasn't . . . but that wit of his sure is rapier sharp."

"I study him," interposed the actor. "He has the most immaculate timing since Jack Benny. I don't know him, but I'd guess he started out shy, learned his craft thoroughly to develop that wonderful shift from control to artless humor."

"If I do have any secret about coming over O. K.," Carson opines, "it's because I let everybody else do his job. I've got enough to do with mine—performing. The producer produces, the director directs, the talent coordinators line up the guests and writers write (the sketches, that is, not the ad libs!)."

Rita Yearning For Script As Girl Next Door

By DICK KLEINER

Rita Gam is going to spend her summer in Minneapolis to prove to the world that she's more than just a sex symbol.

In case you're not aware that Minneapolis is a proving ground for this kind of thing, be advised that that city is the home of the new Minnesota Theatre Company, a refreshing experiment which deserves some attention.

Sir Tyrone Guthrie, renowned Broadway and London director, is taking the classical stage to the Midwest. From May 7 through Sept. 22, in a beautiful new theater, his company will present a repertoire of four plays—Shakespeare's "Hamlet," Moliere's "The Miser," Chekhov's "The Three Sisters" and Miller's "Death of a Salesman." The permanent company is headed by Hume Cronyn, Jessica Tandy, George Grizzard and Miss Gam.

"I'm hoping," says the glamorous actress, "that this is my chance to prove I'm an actress, not just a sex symbol. I think my career has been held up from five to 10 years because of my looks. My looks are not the kind producers think actresses have—it's not the face of the girl-next-door. How I envy the girl-next-door!"

Miss Gam says she has tried desperately to get away from what she calls "the Indian-girl part" in movies and on television. She quit movies, went to the Actors' Studio, participated in the Studio's South American tour and worked like a beaver.

"The result? They offered me more Indian-girl parts in Hollywood, and television wanted me to play Hollywood glamor gals."

So she's off to Minneapolis, hoping she'll come back with the reputation as an actress. Or a girl-next-door.

Actress Hope Lange Searching For Roles In Real Love Stories

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA) — Hope Lange wants to make love. The only thing is, she can't get anyone to cooperate.

Now, before you rush out to volunteer, calm yourself. What Miss Lange is talking about is love stories on television and in the movies. That's the kind of love she wants to make.

"I'd like to do a real, old-fashioned love story," says the beautiful blonde star. "But love stories aren't done today. I keep suggesting the idea to producers and they keep saying, 'It's a nice idea, baby, but nobody is doing love stories.'"

"The trouble is, they cloak the love stories in laughs or in sickness—laughs in the comedies and sickness in the dramas about sick, sick people. But they just won't do a straight love story today. Why not?"

"I was in a Kraft Theater show with Jo Van Fleet," Miss Lange says. "The director, Fielder Cook, wanted me for the show, but the agency was afraid to take a chance on an unknown. They had a big fight and, happily, Cook won."

"Before that I was on a game show with Gene Raymond, giving out the prizes and doing commercials. I was very bad—I kept getting the commercials wrong. I quit just before they fired me."

"But out of the Kraft thing came a Hollywood offer, to do 'Bus Stop'. I'd never wanted to go there. I don't have much drive, in the first place. I went because my fiancé (Don Murray, from whom she is now divorced) was going, and I thought my life would be there."

And so, reluctantly, a star was born.

Martians Coming In New Series

CBS-TV says it has signed for a new "situation comedy series" about a Martian whose space craft crashes on Barth.

Ray Walston, who starred on Broadway in "Damn Yankees," will star in "My Favorite Martian." Also to be seen will be Bill Bixby as the newspaper reporter who rescues Walston and Pamela Britton.

Michael Landon, of the "Bonanza" series, was an outstanding athlete in high school and established a javelin-throwing record that earned him a college scholarship.

For any who still are worrying,
Today's Fearless Forecaster,
Jack Lescoulie, wasn't really thrown out of all those ball parks this year and nobody wants to get the word around more than the managers who went along with a gag, find the "hate-you"

the frantic season is underway anyway.
Johnny Carson who had to stay

A MIRACLE

Did you ever hold in your hand a rose, a plant, or even a tiny seed and wonder where its beauty comes from? Or did you plant a seed and watch, day by day, and marvel at nature's way? How miraculous are the ways of nature; so beautiful that man can never fashion or create a rival.

Another word for nature, of course, is God. He creates. Beauty in all its forms comes from Him, and to us they are given; nature's bounties, we call them.

When you go to church this Sunday, say another word of "thanks" for all that is good, all that is beautiful; all that you possess!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Greasing The Skids
For Khrushchev?

Two interesting developments on the Mos-cow-Peking party-line axis: From Hong Kong come reports that the Chinese Communists are telling their people Soviet Premier Khrushchev must step down or be removed from power to open any door of reconciliation between Russia and China.

From sources "close to the Soviet embassy in East Berlin," a German newspaper reports that Khrushchev soon will be replaced as premier by Frol Kozlov, first deputy premier, but will retain his post as Communist Party chairman.

No observer could hazard the opinion at this point, on the basis of these reports alone, that the skids are being prepared for Nikita. This could be true, but there is another possibility.

The East German regime of Walter Ulbricht is known to be favorably disposed toward Peking's views, though forced to bow to Khrushchev because of Soviet troops in East Germany and the closeness of Moscow. These two reports may be linked as part of the Chinese-Stalinist campaign against Khrushchev.

If this speculation is borne out and a show-down is approaching between the Chinese-Albanian-Stalinists and Khrushchev, a deep split may be at hand — even deeper than already apparent. This could be argued on the basis of which interest should be paramount, international Communism or Russian nationalism.

But of course whoever controls the Kremlin will call the tune, at least for the present.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

He Planted More Than Ivy

No head of Yale University had died in office for more than a century. So, as a huge overflow crowd of mourners stood around the old campus outside of Battell Chapel in New Haven, Connecticut, last Monday to pay their last respects to Yale President A. Whitney Griswold, dead of cancer at the age of 56, it was a solemn local event of the first importance.

Whitney Griswold belonged to the somewhat insulated circles of the Ivy League colleges and the American Northeast, which was not sufficient in itself to give him national stature. But in two spheres of his activity he had spoken to the nation as a whole, with salutary results that are still expanding.

The most important of President Griswold's national crusades was directed at overcoming the worst ravages of the so-called "progressive" education that had made a mockery of basic standards in the grammar schools and high schools of the land. Watching students enter college over the years, Whitney Griswold was sometimes appalled at what even a bright high school graduate had to do in freshman year to make up for deficiencies that traced back to the grammar grades. There were students who couldn't spell, students who couldn't put good sentences together, students who hadn't really learned to read. Yet there was nothing wrong with their I.Q.'s.

Whitney Griswold had the courage to assail the powerful National Education Association for debasing educational values. He thought the NEA was guilty of encouraging what he called a "service station" view of education. He had nothing against baton twirling, fudge making, dry fly fishing or the proper techniques of dating, but he doubted the wisdom of making provision for such things in any school curriculum when there were other things to be learned. And the idea of using good time in a high school English class to conduct a seminar on the use of the telephone directory seemed to him the final insult to Shakespeare and Charles Dickens.

For their role in turning out teachers who willingly acquiesced in watering down the educational content of courses, President Griswold let fly with some exquisite sarcasms at the teachers' colleges of America. By concentrating on "methodology" at the expense of content, the teachers' colleges, so Griswold insisted, made their courses so "repellent" that no first-rater could face the ordeal of taking a degree in pedagogy.

"The whole teacher-training curriculum," he said, "has been frozen into law in many states. There are certification requirements, and if you will examine them you will find that many are the relics of the old system of pedagogy."

Because of his crusade, President Griswold did much to provoke the current swing-back from the idea that if a teacher had mastered the technique of setting up a "project" for his class he need know next to nothing about the subject he was supposed to be teaching. Courses in pedagogical "methodology" still occupy a large space in teachers' college catalogues, but the "content" courses have been inching up on them.

President Griswold's second educational crusade arrayed him against institutes set up to teach "international studies." As a scholar in the field of diplomatic history, Dr. Griswold believed in precision. He happened to come into the field at a time when it was fashionable to divorce the subject of "international relations" from the solid substance of national history. The airiness with which the experts in "international studies" tossed their abstractions around was so abhorrent to the Yankee realist side of Whitney Griswold's nature that he sent a number of professors packing. He wanted history taught as history, a seamless web that had both national and international aspects.

The Griswold crusades to make the "whole teaching profession more attractive" had an effect that went far beyond the cloisters of the Ivy League colleges. Hence, though his main concern was to build Yale, A. Whitney Griswold deserves to be remembered as one of the "movers and shakers" who rescued American education from a general catastrophe.

'I'm Only Drowning Your Head'

Kennedy And Critics Want Soviets Out Of Cuba

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy at his latest news conference came close to confessing that his efforts to get the Soviet troops and "equipment" out of Cuba have thus far failed. He was candid and forthright in conceding that the exact number does not matter too much. He confirmed that a few thousands troops had arrived during the same period, while a few hundred others had arrived during the same period. He emphasized that the "equipment" and a substantial number of troops are still there.

It was significant, moreover, that the President indicated that he is in agreement in principle with Senator Kenneth Keating of New York, one of his Republican critics, who has been arguing that numbers mean less than does the continued presence in Cuba of a Soviet military base.

It could be that Mr. Kennedy was purposely pursuing in part the same argument as some of his critics, because that's one way of letting Premier Khrushchev know that pressure to get his troops and equipment out of Cuba has not lessened and that public opinion in America is very much aroused over the issue.

Sometimes this way of handling the problem can be more effective than formal diplomatic notes of protest. For the facts are becoming clearer every day — the American people are not going to allow the Cuban problem to be brushed aside, and any American President, regardless of party, would be up against the same demand that something be done to preserve the historic principle of the Monroe Doctrine. The United States is committed not only by her own statements of policy in past decades but by the international agreements with other governments of this hemisphere to set to it that no European power sets up a military base anywhere in this hemisphere. For such action is a threat to the security and safety of other countries in both North and South America.

Mr. Kennedy reviewed at his news conference the steps he has taken to apply economic pressure upon the Castro regime. He referred to the expressed attitude of the Organization of American States in seeking to prevent the export of subversion from Cuba to other countries. He implied that all feasible steps are being taken but gave no indication of anything more drastic, such as a real blockade.

It was unfortunate, however, that the President made a political reference at his news conference to the events that began in 1959 when Castro came into power. He said possibly it would have been easier for the Eisenhower administration to get rid of Castro.

BULLISH STOCK MARKET — Nearly two years ago the stock market was moving up and scoring new highs almost daily. The action attracted a lot of "little fellows" into the market and caused government officials in high places to worry lest a market break would catch the amateurs and bring their political wrath down around administration heads.

This was the atmosphere that caused Congress to vote nearly a million dollars for the most thorough study of the securities industries since the days of the great depression.

Yet, in the last few weeks, the market has been behaving much the way it did then — trading is active and nearly each new day sees the market at near record levels. And oddly, the Securities and Exchange Commission is happy about the whole thing.

The attitude can be explained in the following terms. While it began the stock market study in the midst of a "bull" market, the sharp break that occurred in May

"I think it is unfortunate that he (Castro) was permitted to assume control in the 1950s, and perhaps it would have been easier to take an action then than it is now. But those who were in positions of responsibility did not make that judgment."

But Mr. Kennedy has himself argued in recent weeks—and so have his official advisers—that the United States should never at any time take steps that would present this government in an imperialist role. When Castro came into power, he was not known to be a tool of the Soviets. He had not admitted that he was a Communist. There were no 1962, caused it to take a long second look. It didn't want to be held responsible for a recession which many experts thought could grow out of a rapidly declining market.

The other day, it made a major portion of its inquiry public, and there were many who feared that the inevitable criticism it contained would touch off another market slide. Just the reverse occurred. Investors concluded that the report found nothing basically wrong with the stock market and the resulting sign of relief was reflected in a rising market.

The SEC staff that conducted the inquiry now feels vindicated. They can claim that they did their job thoroughly, but can point to the rising market that followed the report's publication as proof that the blame is not theirs if another break should develop.

Meanwhile, the legislative outcome of the study still lies ahead. Perhaps this time next year the market may have some misgivings when Congress enacts some of the inquiry's recommendations into law.

Tuberculosis Epidemic From Procrastination

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

tuberculosis was passing on the infection to others. According to Dr. Evelyn F. H. Rogers of the New York department of health, the culprit turned out to be the driver of school bus No. 11.

The 236 pupils who rode this vehicle attended five of the seven schools in the district. Vital statistics revealed that 32 per cent of these youngsters had a positive tuberculin test and 19.5 per cent had active tuberculosis. This was in contrast to the outcome of the children who rode other buses. Of these, the tuberculin rate was 1.8 per cent and active tuberculosis was present in only 0.1 per cent.

What about the bus driver? The school district requires a chest X-ray of every person seeking employment for this job. The man had contracted a respiratory infection eight months before his employment. X-ray at that time showed a shadow that was considered to be pneumonia. Several X-rays were taken at monthly intervals, which indicated a progressive clearing of the lesion. It was completely gone by the time of his preemployment X-ray.

Five months later, the driver began to cough and developed night sweats, fatigue, cough, and weight loss. But he waited another six months before seeing his physician and having an X-ray. A new shadow was present and tests of his sputum were positive for tubercle bacilli. He had been suffering from the disease for several months and drove the children around, unaware of the true nature of his chest condition.

In addition, he may have failed to use good judgment in taking care of himself. A chest X-ray is a must for anyone who develops a cough that progresses or persists more than three weeks.

Senators Who Created New Satellite Corporation Have Second Thoughts

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — A good many Senators are beginning to wonder whether they were right in rushing through Congress that satellite communications corporation bill last summer, despite a Senate filibuster. It required a gag rule or "cloture," invoked for the first time in 35 years, to pass the satellite bill. Now some Senators wish they had listened to the filibusterers.

Two important developments have made them skeptical:

1—All three satellites launched for the purpose of transmitting telephone, radio and TV messages around the world, have malfunctioned. At times they couldn't even be located. This is not a very reliable means of communication for a man who wants to make a phone call in a hurry or a TV program which has to go on the airways with split-second timing.

2—It now develops that the private partners of Uncle Sam, led by AT&T, who were supposed to put money into the satellite corporation are reneging on the dough. They have found that further research and experimentation is going to be expensive, want the government to ante up instead.

"I would think it would be somewhat hard to sell stock on a proposition where the public can put up all of the money and if the carriers like it, they can ante up a few pennies as they go along," remarked Sen. Clint Anderson,

D.N.M., in the Senate Space Committee hearings. He was referring to the reluctance of AT&T, Western Union, and other cable and telephone companies to invest in the satellite corporation which they originally lobbied so hard to get through Congress.

"I think they ought to be required to match, if they want to control it," said Anderson, who was one of those who helped break the filibuster against what some Senators called a government giveaway to private corporations.

"If they do not want that, then turn it (the satellite corporation) back to the government," continued Anderson. "There are some members of the Senate who would like to see it turned back and I believe some in the House. I am not one of them and I have said so frankly."

"But unless somebody is going to gamble," he concluded, "we have some problems ahead of us."

Dissatisfied Senators

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., also an early booster of the partnership between government and industry to develop the communications satellite, seemed unhappy over his baby. He cross-examined Bruce Sundlun, one of the directors, at length as to why the private partners were not willing to pay their share of satellite research, but wanted the government to pay for it instead. Getting no satisfactory answers, Symington finally complained:

"I have been in at the birth and at times the death of a good many corporations and I have never quite run into one like this before. Your testimony does not satisfy me with respect to the concept of what I voted for last fall."

However, he kept hammering at satellite director Bruce Sundlun trying to get clear answers. "Now my question again is," he persisted, "if NASA does the research and development, and the corporation does not pay for it but obtains advantages of it, isn't this something less than the private corporation we have claimed it was?"

Director Sundlun kept insisting that it was really a private corporation. But the Senator from Missouri pointed out: "There will be some $55,000,000 of research and development for NASA in this field that the taxpayer will pay for and you (the corporation) will obtain advantages therefrom."

Sen. Howard Cannon, D-Nev., was also disturbed.

"When the top executive officer receives a salary greater than the U.S. President and the second top executive officer receives a salary almost two and one half times greater than the Vice President, I am sure you can realize that many of the members of the tax-paying public will be somewhat critical," he said.

Note — The Senators who opposed the communications satellite corporation in the first place argued that the Kennedy administration was giving away several billion dollars worth of research and development paid for by all the taxpayers, to five or six private corporations led by AT&T. The same Senators now point out that on top of this give-away, AT&T, et al., now want the government to spend more research millions.

Anti-Goldwater Revolt

Sen. Barry Goldwater really means it when he says he doesn't want to run for President—this time.

Goldwater is quite sincere in his determination to run for the Senate again in Arizona and has been curtailing all speaking engagements outside the state. He's probably just in the nick of time, for a revolt in Republican ranks had started against him back home.

The revolt became so alarming that Goldwater recently closed up his Senate desk and flew back to Phoenix to keep control of the Republican state machinery.

The revolt was led by Evan Mecham, a political maverick who had challenged Goldwater's man Keith Brown for the Republican state chairmanship.

The irate Goldwater threatened to discipline any Republican committeeman who voted against him, and then blocked a move to permit fellow Republicans to cast their ballots in secret.

Naturally, he won.

Fleet St. Breakthrough

By John Crosby

LONDON
My old journalism professor, Horace C. Boilerplate, was in London for a week before the royal wedding, buying up edition after edition, as they rolled, oozing, off the presses.

"I've covered them all, my boy," he told me in that high, thin voice which has infected generations of students with the wonders of journalism. "Philip and Elizabeth, Anthony and Margaret. Grace and—uh—what was that fellow's name? Each time you think the press has finally outdone itself at cooing over royal lovebirds. But each time we forge ahead a little further, break new ground. The great thing about our profession is to watch it grow."

Just then a delivery truck with the latest edition of the Sketch arrived and the old professor leapt to buy it, his eyes dancing with anticipation.

"BLESS HER!" said the headline on page 1 in 60-point type. "A real breakthrough," murmured the professor. "A dozen years ago that would have read 'SOLENN DAY ARRIVES.' Full sentence. Complete thought. But we've grown in sophistication. We simply suggest the event — like an abstract painting. 'BLESS HER!' It has heart! Brevity! Style! And, of course, an explanation point. The British are miles ahead of the Americans in the use of punctuation in their front-page heads."

He showed me the front page of the Evening Standard. It read simply: "THEIR DAY!" "Not only exclamation point but underlined, too." He showed me the Evening News front page. "TO HAPPINESS!" it read. Sixty-point type. Eight-column head.

"Ten years ago," said the professor with great satisfaction, "that would have been considered sickeningly sentimental, but today — such has been the strides taken in our profession — nothing is considered too sickening. We're always pressing on to new frontiers."

He showed me the Daily Mail front page. "NERVOUS? OH, YES," is read in 60-point type. "But that headline writer kept striving for perfection. Here's the next edition." It read: "NERVOUS?"

"Of Course, I Am, Says the Groom."

"Always in there trying to improve," said the professor. "Now, you'd say the Standard could never improve on 'THEIR DAY!' But you mark my words, they'll have another edition out shortly with fresh developments."

An hour later, the Evening Standard truck rolled up with a new edition and a whole new front page.

"LUNCH TOGETHER FOR ALEX AND ANGUS"

It was a six-column head, which is all the columns the Standard has to offer, in 60-point type.

"When I went to journalism school," said the old professor, "that would not have been considered a fit story for page 1. If Alex and Angus had not lunched together or if Angus had been caught lurching with some other girl, that would have been considered front page. But in my youth we weren't journalistically mature enough to grasp the full significance of an engaged couple lurching together. Even today some of the stodgier members of our profession might mutter that the front page is overplaying it a little."

He picked up the Daily Mail and turned to Charles Greville's column. "One of the great tasks of modern journalism is to pluck the significant detail from the mass of irrelevant trivia. Mr. Greville has pushed aside the trivia and gone to the heart of the matter here."

"Let us watch the comings and goings at a small but fabulously elegant hairdressings salon in Maccon Street, Belegraia. At 9 a. m. the first head arrived for shampoo and set. After lunch it was all tiaras. I had always thought that a tiara was something you just plonked on after everything. Not so."

"YOU CANNOT PUT YOUR OWN TIARA ON."

He made a note: "We have much to learn from the British in the use of capital letters. Would Winchell have thought of putting that in caps? Never! Would Ed Sullivan or Lennie Lyons? For that matter, what American journalist would cover a hair-dressing salon with quite that sense of purpose. Listen to this."

And he read: "A ball (he's talking about the Windsor Castle ball that preceded the nuptials) is like an iceberg. I could sense a small hunk of social history being played in London yesterday. It was the biggest thing of its kind this century. Possibly the last thing of its kind forever. A turning-point ball."

The old professor snorted: "What American journalist would bring a sense of historical continuity to a shampoo parlor?" He sighed. "But, after all, we're a young nation. The British are centuries ahead of us in the business of drooling over weddings. But wait till Jacqueline Kennedy has the baby. In the matter of drooling over babies — no nation can surpass our own."

You're Telling Me

By William Ritt

A tribe in Central India, we read, eats nothing but rice. There's one place where no one ever asks, "What's cooking?"

To have a beautiful front lawn, a homeowner must have a green thumb or plenty of greenbacks.

Scientists estimate it took fish 250 million years to attain their present form and learn to swim. At that rate it'll probably be another 250 million before they learn to leave baited hooks alone.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A suspicious customer was considering the purchase of a cowhide jacket. "Are you sure this is first-rate material?" he demanded. "Well," ventured the sales clerk, "it held the cow together."

It's hard to believe, but it's just sixty-three years since Colonel John Jacob Astor created a wild commotion on Fifth Avenue in New York by driving an automobile down that thoroughfare. It was a sultry summer day in 1900 when a series of muffled explosions brought people running to the curb. Horses balked, pedestrians fled. Colonel Astor chugged into view in a rebuilt surrey with a steam-driven engine under the seat, and clouds of vapor evaporating in his wake. Suddenly a fire broke out under the seat. The good Colonel mistook the shouts of warning from onlookers as a deserved cheer for his accomp-ment. Suddenly, however, he realized what was happening and made an undignified dive for the pavement. The car burned to the ground, and the "Get a horse" crowd predicted again that automobiles were a snare and a delusion.

Keyser Grade School Program Termed 'Model'

KEYSER — The Keyser Elementary School program has been classified as a "model" program by a group of area educators, said E. M. Welshonce, assistant superintendent of schools in Mineral County.

The principal, C. N. Wimer, and teachers at the school were cited for the high level of student participation which is a good measure for an instructional program; for the uses of modern instructional aids such as the controlled reader and mathematics machine; for a good environment and atmosphere for learning; and for a high standard of discipline.

The educators were highly complimentary in their conference with the county and school administration which followed a visitation of the classroom and observation of classroom procedure, said Mr. Welshonce.

Special praise was given for the variety of teaching techniques used by the teachers and the good teacher-pupil relationship as well as the program organization and the scheduled use of the buildings.

It was noted that all 27 teachers in the school have a bachelor or master's degree. The principal has a master's degree with a principal's certificate.

Although the high quality of custodial care and the utilization of the buildings was praised by the group, model rating for the building itself was withheld because the buildings did not meet modern-day standards.

Mr. Welshonce was chairman of the committee which included the county officials of Hampshire, Pendleton, Jefferson, Berkeley and Mineral counties.

'Fast Time' Statewide In W. Va.

By United Press International
When the clock hands point to 2 a. m. tomorrow, all of West Virginia will go on Daylight Savings Time.

The 1963 Legislature decreed that the entire state would remain on "fast time" until Sept. 22. It will mark the first time since World War II that the Mountain State will be unified under one time zone.

In past years, most Panhandle sections chose to follow out-of-state areas by switching to DST while most of the remainder of the state stayed on "slow" or Eastern Standard Time.

Confusing the state time clock was the consistency in which some areas used "fast" time while others used it inconsistently.

On occasion, but not often, Charleston, Huntington, Beckley, Fairmont, Elkins, Bluefield and Princeton had gone to DST while areas like Morgantown and adjoining Preston County have used the fast time regularly.

Adding to the confusion has been the fact that some areas returned to standard time at varying dates, some when schools reopened, others at the end of September and others in October.

Martinsburg City Council has already voted to maintain fast time through October and other cities in the Eastern Panhandle are expected to follow suit. It may take an opinion by the attorney general or perhaps even a court test, to decide if such extensions are permitted by law.

The law provides that the governor shall issue a proclamation putting the state on DST from the fourth Sunday in April to the fourth Sunday in September.

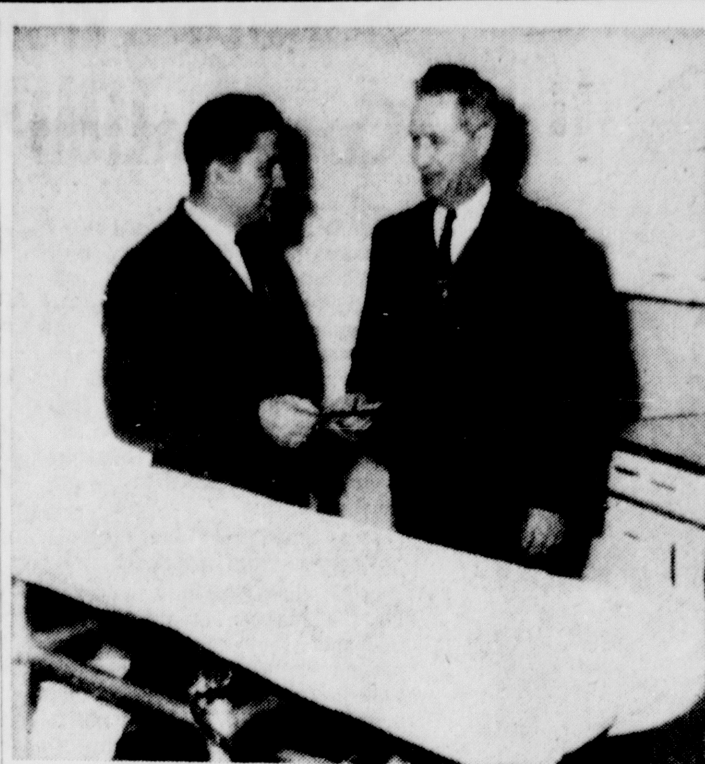

Mr. Welshonce was chairman of the committee which included the county officials of Hampshire, Pendleton, Jefferson, Berkeley and Mineral counties.

The Simpson's were able to get some of their belongings out of the burning home. It was estimated that the home was damaged about $3,500 and furnishings an additional $1,500.

The fire which started shortly before noon did considerable damage to the living room, kitchen and a bedroom.

NCAA Puts Two On Probation

Hardin-Simmons, Omaha Affected

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association placed Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene, Tex., on probation for two years Friday and placed the University of Omaha on probation indefinitely.

The action against Hardin-Simmons was taken because the school had invited 32 prospective student-athletes to participate, and they participated, in competitive football drills to evaluate their skills. The NCAA's 18-man council said.

The NCAA said Coach Jack Thomas of Hardin-Simmons pleaded ignorance of the rule governing financial aid to athletes.

In the case against the University of Omaha, the council said, the school "knowingly violated the provisions against post-season football competition."

This involved participating in the All-Sports Bowl game Dec. 8, 1962, when the game had not been certified by the NCAA extra events committee.

The ruling against Hardin-Simmons affects only the football team, but the ruling against Omaha referred to all teams or individuals competing in NCAA championship and invitational events.

Art Mahaffey Fans 11 Cubs, Phils Win, 5-2

Covington, Callison Belt Round-Trippers

CHICAGO (UPI)—Art Mahaffey struck out 11 Chicago Cubs batters Friday to make the most of home runs by Wes Covington and Johnny Callison for a 5-2 triumph for the Philadelphia Phillies.

Mahaffey, winning his second game, allowed only three hits, but one of them was Billy Williams first home run after a walk to Andre Rodgers, one of the three passes he issued.

The Phillies were coasting after Covington's homer, his third, which came in the fourth after a walk to Callison and a bunt single credited to Tony Gonzales, when first baseman Ernie Banks and pitcher Glen Hobbie banded attempting to field the ball.

Callison's homer, also his third, came with the bases empty and two outs in the fifth.

Hobbie, taking his second loss, worked only six innings, giving up all the runs on six hits and three walks. Jim Brewer and Barney Schultz finished. It was the Cubs' third straight defeat and the win moved the Phillies above the .500 mark with an 8-7 record.

Balks were called in the ninth inning on both Schultz and Mahaffey, despite notification by league President Warren Giles to umpires Friday to ease up on enforcement of the balk rule.

Franklin Bests Moorefield, 1-0

Franklin's Jack Hedrick bested Steve Earle in a nifty pitching duel yesterday afternoon as the Panthers defeated Moorefield, 1-0, in a PVC contest played at Franklin.

Hedrick, a junior righthander, permitted only two Moorefield base hits—a double by Earle and a one-base rap by Simms. He didn't walk a batter and fanned five in picking up his first win against one loss. Franklin's team record is 2-3.

The Panthers scored the game's only run in the second inning. John Hammer reached second base on an error and rode home on Herman Hevener's single.

Frostburg State Hosts Altoona Tossers Today

Play At Frostburg, Potomac Has Twin Bill In Baltimore

Frostburg State Teachers College needs another victory to move into the .500 circle and Coach Bill Marley's Bobcats hope to attain that goal today when they play Altoona (Pa.) Campus at 2 p.m., at Beall High School Field.

Altoona invaded Keyser Wednesday and split even in a pair of interesting games with Potomac State, winning the opener, 1-0, and taking the nightcap in 12 innings, 2-1. On the same day, Frostburg State made it 4-5 for the season by defeating the West Virginia University Freshmen at Morgantown by the score of 3-1.

Coach John Fox's Potomac State College tossers invade Baltimore today to engage Baltimore Junior College in a Tri-State Junior College Conference doubleheader. This will be Potomac's fourth conference game of the campaign, the Catamounts having beaten (5-3) and lost (9-8) to Montgomery Junior College and won over Hagerstown Junior College, 16-9.

The Catamounts play nine conference games in the conference this season including a twin bill at Shenandoah May 4, a single game with Wesley College, of Dover, Del., at Keyser May 13 and a return tilt with Hagerstown at Keyser, May 14. Potomac State's overall record is three wins, five losses and one tie.

Gum, a southpaw who had won four straight games for Mathias, blanked the Pirates for three innings before the roof caved in.

Paw Paw picked up two runs in each of the fourth, fifth and sixth innings.

Kidwell pitched brilliantly for the Pirates, who had suffered a 5-4, 12-inning defeat at Gum's hands earlier in the season. Kidwell allowed only two Mathias batters to get on base, Rodney Sherman touching him for a double in the second and Ronnie Whetzel reaching on a base or balls in the fourth.

Paw Paw added its record to 6-3, while the loss was the first for Mathias in five games.

The win gave Coach Arne Hott's team a 1-3 record. The loss was the third straight for Wardensville.

Steve Kump paced the winners at the plate with three hits in as many official trips. Terry Hulver collected two safeties for the Warriors. Box score:

Native Of City Appointed To Interracial Unit

Rev. Robert Powell
Named By Governor

A native of Cumberland was appointed yesterday by Governor Tawes as a member of the Maryland Commission on Interracial Problems and Relations.

He is Rev. Robert M. Powell, of Baltimore, who was named to serve the remainder of the six-year term of Furman L. Templeton, who resigned. The term will expire May 31, 1965.

The governor, in a brief note to Father Powell, said, "It gives me great pleasure to make this appointment, and I am confident that your judgment and ability in performing the duties of this office will be to the advantage of the state and its people."

Rev. Mr. Powell is currently serving as the general missionary in Baltimore for the Episcopal Diocese of Maryland.

Assigned as a missionary at large, his principal duties are the operation of the Lafayette Community Center, on Lafayette Square, which serves children from redevelopment areas nearby.

He is 33 and a son of William Powell, 54 North Mechanic Street.

He is a graduate of Morgan State College, Baltimore, with an A.B. degree and received his bachelor of divinity degree from Virginia Theological Seminary, Alexandria, Va., in 1957.

Father Powell was ordained to the Episcopal priesthood in St. James Church, Baltimore, in 1958.

Chaney, left, was presented with a large fish brought here from the Chesapeake Bay by delegates who are attending the Great Council meeting of the Improved Order of Redmen and the Degree of Pocahontas which is being held in Cumberland this weekend. A. H. Wagner, center, past sashem, caught the rockfish in the Annapolis area, and looking on is John Howley, Bryn Mawr, great inchoonee of the United States. Over 500 delegates are expected to attend the state meeting here.

Youth Assembly Seeks End Of Death Penalty

Eyler Signs Four Campaign Bills

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The program of Youth Governor John Eyler moved along rapidly Friday as the 1963 YMCA Model Legislature passed the halfway mark.

Eyler signed into law Friday seven measures, four of which were on his campaign platform.

The first bill passed by both the house and the senate which Eyler signed was the abolishment of capital punishment.

The law, which would substitute life imprisonment for the death penalty, was amended so that the state would use the procedure for a 10-year trial period.

Other platform bills signed were enactment of a right to work law, compulsory annual auto inspection at state owned stations and re-examination of drivers over 65 years old.

Also enacted into law was the elimination of the unit vote in primary elections, adoption of the federal food service sanitation manual for the regulations governing eating and drinking establishments and establishment of two state supported institutions for severely mentally retarded children.

The 200 high school juniors and seniors, selected on the basis of leadership from Hi-Y and Tri-Y clubs in their areas, were to hold their annual dinner and party later Friday night. The highlight party was to be a talent show that would have the teenagers as the performers.

Gov. Tawes greeted the delegates Friday as "guardians of the future of Maryland and the United States of America."

He said the communities, the state and the nation would benefit because the delegates are preparing themselves to be good citizens who would be able to produce good government.

Finan Rules Teachers Lack Appeal Rights

BALTIMORE (AP)—Maryland Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan ruled Friday that four teachers at Frostburg State Teachers College, whose contracts were not renewed had no right to appeal to the college's board of trustees for a hearing.

Finan said the college president, R. Bowen Hardesty, had a perfect right to drop any teachers who did not have tenure as long as he gave proper notice.

The teachers have contended they are being dropped because of their liberal views and because they have used such controversial books as "Lolita" and the "Tropic of Cancer" in some of their courses.

The instructors had demanded a public hearing by the board of trustees.

The highlight of the program will be a free public concert at 3:15 p. m. today at Beall High School auditorium by the All-Maryland High School Orchestra.

Today's program will open at 8:30 a. m. at the Thomas G. Pullen Laboratory school with registration, a coffee hour and exhibits.

Three meetings will be held simultaneously at 9 a. m. in the rhythm room at Compton Hall, Beula Eisenstadt of the University of Maryland will moderate a panel discussion at a junior high vocal session, with L. Eileen McMillan of Boston University as consultant. Walter Lawson of Howard University will be consultant for a secondary school vocal session at Beall Elementary School auditorium. Dr. Cole and Philip Fain of West Virginia University will hold an instrumental session in Compton Hall auditorium.

A coffee break will be held at 10:15 a. m. at the Pullen School cafeteria, and the sessions will resume, with the instrumental session moving to Compton Hall rhythm room for a session with the West Virginia Percussion Ensemble. Elementary classroom teachers are invited to the elementary vocal session in Compton Hall auditorium.

The prisoners pushed a recessed light fixture from the ceiling, shimmed through the hole into the old belfry of the jail, out onto a low roof and jumped off, Alexander said.

The break was discovered at 9:30 p. m. est.

Alexander said he did not believe the prisoners were armed, but that he was sure several of them would seek arms immediately. He said all had been giving trouble in the jail and he had expected them to attempt a break, but not through the ceiling fixture.

A conference luncheon and concert hour are scheduled in Pullen School cafeteria from 12:15 to 2 p. m. Oleta Benn of Carnegie Institute of Technology will speak on guidance functions of the music teacher. Olga Gazda will direct the Western Junior High School Ninth Grade Chorus from Montgomery County and Thomas Silliman will lead the West Frederick Junior High School Band.

The public All-State Orchestra concert will climax the two-day meeting.

The program will feature a cartoon type film in color of "Pilgrim's Progress." The song leader will be Miss May Hoover, Baltimore state director for Child Evangelism Fellowship of Maryland. A love offering will be taken. The rally is under the auspices of Child Evangelism Fellowship.

The Child Evangelism Fellowship is non-denominational but is an arm of the church. It is a fellowship of believers united for evangelizing children — reaching the unreached child — with an interchange of assistance both from and to Sunday schools wherever possible.

The Good News Club, a week-day Bible class held in a home, gives an hour of Bible teaching each week.

Local Chapter Rates Second In Blood Bank

Johnstown Center
Supply Running Low

Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross received second rating for blood production in the Johnstown Region Blood Center for the period of July 1, 1962 to March 31, 1963.

The announcement was made at a meeting of the Center's Blood Committee, Wednesday in Johnstown, with representatives of the 31 participating chapters attending.

Mrs. Harry Beneman, blood chairman, and Mrs. Sara G. Lindsay, executive secretary, represented Allegany County Chapter.

Allegany County residents produced 2,454 pints of blood during the 18 visits of the bloodmobile unit to the area or an average of 133 pints per visit.

In the same period of time, 2,618 bottles were used by local hospitals and out-of-region hospital patients, or 164 pints more than produced.

Dr. Michael G. Mikesic, medical director, and Mrs. Betty Vizi, administrator, announced Sunday that the supply of all types of blood is running low at the center, that more blood is being used than produced.

The committee will set up an award to be known as the Jeanne Craf award, for the college or university having the highest percent of its student body donate blood during a single school year.

Any college or university consisting of four years of instruction and located within geographical limits of the Johnstown Center is eligible. Regular visits are scheduled to Frostburg State Teachers College, Frostburg and Potomac State College, Keyser, also is eligible since it is a part of a four year institution, West Virginia University.

The award will be set up as a floating trophy with a permanent merit certificate for the college honored.

Two county visits are scheduled here next week by the Bloodmobile Unit. On Wednesday the unit will be at the Alvin C. Neat VFW Post Home, Lonaconing from noon until 6 p. m. and on Thursday at Kelly-Springfield Tire Company from 10 a. m. until 4 p. m.

Justice Douglas said he was planning to accompany him on the first hike after a Washington newspaper had advocated establishing a parkway along the 185-mile distance between Washington and Cumberland. Various bills have been introduced in Congress to accomplish the justice's aims but always have failed in one house or the other.

Justice Douglas has vowed he will keep walking until he accomplishes his purpose.

The National Park Service later took over the narrow strip of land, cleaning up the towpath and doing other work to prevent deterioration. Rangers patrol it regularly and anyone now can ride a bicycle or horse for the entire 185 miles without impediment.

Ground was broken for the canal on July 4, 1824, the same day the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad laid its cornerstone in Baltimore. The name was taken because the canal was to link the Chesapeake Bay tidewater area with the Ohio River but the railroads easily won the westward transportation race.

Seven Flee
Frederick Jail

FREDERICK, Md. (AP)—Seven prisoners escaped from the Frederick County Jail sometime Friday night and county Sheriff Horace M. Alexander said all should be considered dangerous.

Alexander said the prisoners, who ranged in age from 16 to 37, escaped from a maximum security cell in the jail. All had been convicted of offenses ranging from armed robbery to traffic violations.

The prisoners pushed a recessed light fixture from the ceiling, shimmed through the hole into the old belfry of the jail, out onto a low roof and jumped off, Alexander said.

The break was discovered at 9:30 p. m. est.

Alexander said he did not believe the prisoners were armed, but that he was sure several of them would seek arms immediately. He said all had been giving trouble in the jail and he had expected them to attempt a break, but not through the ceiling fixture.

Firemen Called
As Brakes Overheat

South End and Central fire companies were called to the intersection of Oldtown Road and Wempe Drive yesterday at 8:39 a. m. when the brakes on a truck caught fire.

South End Fire Company answered a false alarm to the 800 block of Michigan Avenue yesterday at 4:33 p. m.

Brake Fire Doused

The emergency brakes of a car overheated last night and city firemen were summoned. The call was received at 7:40 p. m. and firemen from East Side station went to the intersection of Henderson Avenue and Fulton Street. The car is owned by E. C. Kilroy of 23 Plymouth Drive. An extinguisher was used by the firemen, who said there was no damage.

Ready For Pow Wow

Potomac Council Boy Scouts of America Cub Pack members, leaders and parents will attend the annual Cub Scout Pow Wow today at Parkside School, LaVale. Shown above are Mrs. Norbert Mueller, left, den mother of Pack 9, Cresaptown, chairman of home games; and Mrs. Leonard Schwab, chairman of ceremonies, stunts and skits for the affair. A Blue and Gold dinner will be held.

Cabinet Members To Join Douglas Hikers Today

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas takes his annual hike along the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Saturday, accompanied by some prominent tagalongs.

A lineup which sounds like a "Who's Who in Washington," including Attorney General Robert Kennedy, Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall and Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman, will join the justice for the 15-mile jaunt.

The Williamsport Canal Club said Presidential Press Secretary Pierre Salinger may even go part of the distance from Hancock to Williamsport.

Younger legs expected to match strides with their elders include those of Robert Kennedy's three sons, Bobby, Joe and David; Freeman's son, Mike; McNamara, son of the Secretary of Defense, and Bobby Shriver, son of the Peace Corps director.

Justice Douglas will step off with his party at 8 a. m. with the same purpose he has had for the past nine years: To win support for making the C&O Canal a national park. President Eisenhower, in the last months of his administration, proclaimed the 185-mile canal a national monument.

Sen. Douglas May Go

Sen. Douglas, D-Ill., who has made the hike for the past several years, also is expected to be in the crowd of 150 which will start the walk along the towpath.

Some always drop out along the way.

Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., who had to quit last year because of blistered feet, will give it another try tomorrow, this time accompanied by his wife.

The canal parallels the Potomac River and the towpath will be a scenic one. What Justice Douglas began in 1954 has grown until the hikers have a formal organization, the C&O Canal Association, which puts on a dinner at the end of every hike.

In 1961 it rained heavily and Sen. Douglas and Udall were among 25 to 30 hikers ordered out of a posh restaurant-tavern where they had sought shelter to eat their sandwiches. The proprietress didn't recognize them.

Challenge To Newsman

Justice Douglas invited newspapermen to accompany him on the first hike after a Washington newspaper had advocated establishing a parkway along the 185-mile distance between Washington and Cumberland. Various bills have been introduced in Congress to accomplish the justice's aims but always have failed in one house or the other.

Justice Douglas has vowed he will keep walking until he accomplishes his purpose.

The National Park Service later took over the narrow strip of land, cleaning up the towpath and doing other work to prevent deterioration. Rangers patrol it regularly and anyone now can ride a bicycle or horse for the entire 185 miles without impediment.

Deep Creek
Waters Not Contaminated

Dr. Arthur F. Jones, acting deputy state health officer for Allegany County Health Department, said yesterday that recent announcements from that department have been misunderstood to imply that the Deep Creek area waters are contaminated with the typhoid germ.

Dr. Jones said that these lakes show no more contamination than any other bodies of ground water and that as a matter of fact, Deep Creek Lake is fed largely by springs beneath the lake surface.

According to Dr. Jones, a Health Department survey in the summer of 1961, showed that there is no dangerous contamination to Deep Creek Lake.

However, the Health Department has long advocated vacationers drinking other than approved municipal water be immunized against typhoid fever. It is only because of the introduction of typhoid into the Pittsburgh area and the fact that many persons from that area visit Deep Creek Lake, that the precautionary measure of typhoid shots is recommended.

In a recent letter from the Pennsylvania Health Department of Health, Dr. Jones, who also is deputy state health officer for Garrett County, was assured that the one case of typhoid fever in the Pittsburgh area had been entirely contained.

The principal dangers of the spread of typhoid infection would come from the contamination of private wells by septic systems, Dr. Jones said.

TO RETIRE—Philip T. Smith, superintendent of services at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, will retire next week after 19 years of service at the local plant. A native of Cumberland, he began his employment in 1944 when the local facility was operated by George Washington University for the Office of Scientific Research and Development.

Beaman Is Jailed At Atlanta

A 34-year-old South Carolina native who posed as an exchange student from Norway about five years ago at Frostburg State Teachers College and later served time at Lewisburg, Pa., on a federal charge and was given a suspended sentence December 6, 1962 in Allegany County Circuit Court on forgery charges, is back in confinement in Atlanta, Ga., local authorities said.

Robert Lamar Beaman, who used the alias of Marcus von Faulkenhorst in September 1957 at the Frostburg College was accused of passing bad checks before leaving for Baltimore and was later nabbed there on a federal charge and was sentenced to the federal penitentiary in Lewisburg where he served time.

He was tried here last December on a criminal information filed by the state's attorney's office on forgery charges. Beaman was arraigned before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris and pleaded guilty to the charges.

Beaman was given a sentence of one year in the Maryland House of Correction. However the sentence was suspended and the man was paroled.

Sometime ago Sheriff Paul C. Haberlein learned that Beaman, who was employed in Cumberland after his hearing here, left the city and was arrested in Georgia and is now a prisoner in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta.

On Wednesday a detainer was sent by the sheriff and state's attorney's office to authorities at the prison.

For the convenience of passengers using B & O Trains 23 and 30 (between Washington and Cincinnati), the B & O will provide connecting highway bus service between Clarksburg and Parkersburg, to bypass the tunnel clearance area. The railroad will also adjust train schedules so as to permit westbound patrons to connect with Train 23 at Parkersburg for Cincinnati and intermediate points. The same service will prevail for passengers eastbound, connecting with Train 30 at Clarksburg for Washington and intermediate points.
